Artwork/Project Description

CALM is an attractive and user-friendly mental health application web design. It offers easy access to consultations with psychologists and psychiatrists. The website features a splash screen for registration or login. The home page has a serene design with soothing colors. The profile page allows personalization. The appointment page simplifies booking, and the online and onsite service pages provide convenient options for virtual or in-person sessions. CALM combines aesthetics and functionality for a visually appealing and user-centric experience.
